P.T.A. Opens Annual Drive

100 Percent Membership Goal Set Mrs. Boggs Named President;

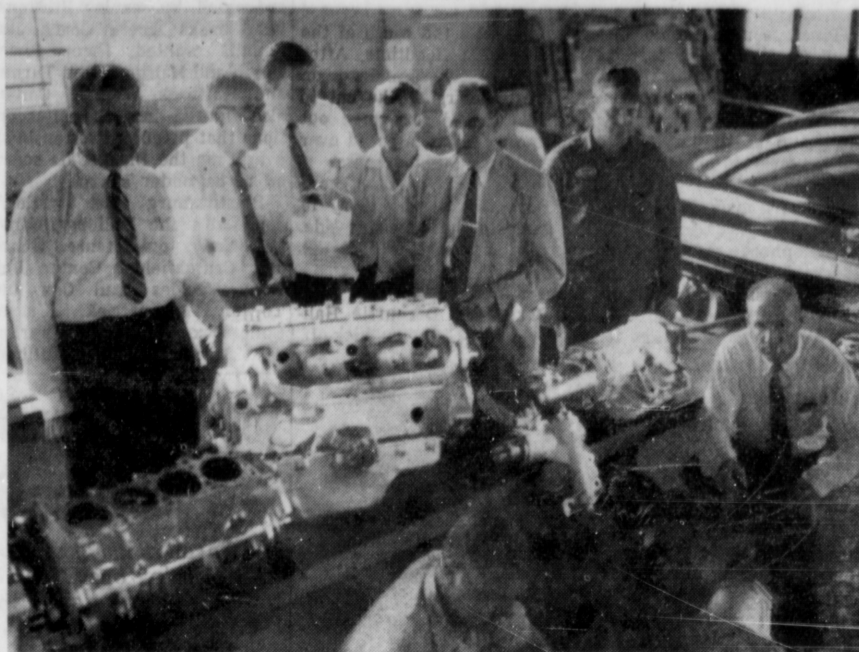

The annual membership drive of the Hazard Parent-Teacher Association will get underway September 22nd and close October 1st, according to Mrs. Eli C. Boggs, Membership Chairman.

Every civic-minded person who is interested in education and the welfare of children as well as the objectives of the P.T.A. are eligible to join. This year the Hazard P.T.A. membership goal is 100% for both parents and teachers.

They are fashioned to help us conduct successfully the most important business in the world—the building of future citizens, strong in body, healthy in mind, and free in spirit.

Membership dues are $1.00 per year and 1st, 2nd and 3rd prizes will be given to rooms in Lower Broadway, Upper Broadway and High School for being first to turn in 100% membership of parents.

Mrs. Boggs will visit the schools this week and give out membership cards in order that the drive will start promptly on the 22nd.

School Gets $2,200 In Equipment

Over $2,200 in Dodge automotive parts were donated to the Hazard Vocational School here recently by the Chrysler Corporation and Colwell Motor Company, of Hazard. Helton and Perry expressed their appreciation to the public for the "fine reception" given the new store.

Elusive Stacy Twins Recaptured

The Stacy twins, elusive Ronald and Donald, were arrested in Morgan County, Saturday, and returned here to face trial in Circuit Court on three felony charges.

The bothers, County Sheriff Paul Amis reported, will probably go on trial in Perry Circuit Court today on two charges of grand larceny and one for breaking and entering.

Sheriff Amis said the two were arrested in West Liberty by the county sheriff there. Donald is an escapee from the Perry County Jail.

1700 Families Interviewed During 10 Day Survey Here

Tenants Will Occupy Homes Within 2 Years

Approximately 200 units of low-rent public housing will be available for Hazard, a survey just completed here has determined.

The survey, conducted here by the Federal Home and Housing Agency, Atlanta, Ga., was completed Saturday.

Gene Parker, Chairman, Hazard Municipal Housing Commission, revealed the same day the occupants of the public housing will probably move into them within the next two years.

1,700 Families Contacted

Of 1,700 families contacted during the survey, 258 said they would apply if eligible; 37 indicated they were not interested in obtaining public housing. Eligibility requirements, determined by monthly income and family size, will be announced when the Municipal Housing Commission starts receiving applications sometime next year.

Only information furnished by tenants was tabulated for the survey, since home-owners are ineligible for public housing.

Tabulated results reveal there are 30 families within the city limits having an annual income of less than $1,000. Forty-three families have an income of from $1,000 to $1,500; fifty-seven have an income of $2,000 to $2,499; thirty-five, $2,500 to $2,999; fifty-eight, $3,000 to $3,499; thirty-eight, $3,500 to $3,999; and 116 with incomes over $4,000.

Certain Areas Excluded

Only specified residential areas within the city were surveyed. Areas of Hazard where home-ownership is prevalent and the condition of homes considered superior were excluded from the survey.

Hazard Druggist To Tour Europe

Clyde Baumgardner, Hazard druggist, will leave here Thursday for 20 day tour of Europe that will include a visit to the Brussels World Fair.

Baumgardner will depart New York by air on Sept. 20 and return to the States on Oct. 10.

Game Changed

The Hazard-M. C. Napier football game will be played, Thursday night, at 7:30 p.m., instead of Friday night, as originally scheduled, Coach Ed Orick of M. C. Napier announced today.

Miss Knox Talks To Medical Men

Miss Alma Knox, director, Hazard office Department Health, Education and Welfare, was the principal speaker for the regular monthly meeting of the Perry County Medical Society last week in the Begley Clinic Building.

Presiding was Dr. C. C. Rutledge, president.

Juror's Report Says County Needs Courthouse, Jail

The Perry County grand jury has expressed the need for a new county courthouse and jail, preferably consolidated in one building.

The jury returned its final report last weekend to Circuit Court Judge Courtney C. Wells, and again took note of the age and condition of the present courthouse and jail. Both buildings have been the object of one grand jury report after another for the past several years.

The grand jury reported that while Jailer Charley Maggard and his wife are doing a good job with what they have to work with, the jail is not in good condition.

Poor Ventilation

Jurors noted ventilation is poor and struck out at inadequate rest-room facilities. They recommended new mattresses, the replacement of broken window panes, and immediate repairs for cracked walls and ceilings.

In an office by office inspection of the county courthouse, jurors noted that while offices were "clean" and records being kept properly, minor repairs are needed in all offices with the exception of the county clerk's and county attorney's.

In the report to the court, the jury made reference to three payments made through the county clerk's office, but gave no reason why these three payments had been singled out for attention.

Three Payments Noted

The payments were for $75 to D. G. Boley, a deputy clerk; and legal adviser to County Court Clerk Jessie Horn; $75 to Guy Olinger, a janitor hired by Miss Horn to clean the clerk's office; and $400 to Wiley Maggard, son of Jailer Charley Maggard. W. Maggard served as a guard at the county jail before leaving for Ohio.

Jurors commended the purchase of voting machines by the county and expressed the hope the machines "will save the county money."

Jurors reported the city jail and fire department is in good condition, but said "water facilities" for cells in the city jail "need to be adjusted" for more "healthful conditions." Jurors also reported they heard "some complaints of insufficient" food for the "requirements of city prisoners." They also recommended that another room be added to the rear of the jail.

More Indictments Returned

Indictments returned by the grand jury, Thursday are as follows:

Juanita Ritchie, making and delivering a check not backed by sufficient funds, bond $500; Burnis Watkins, seduction, bond $1,000; Bill Begley, obtaining money falsely, bond $500; Tom Turner and Fred Collett, armed robbery, bond $7,500 each; Paul Bowling, petit larceny, bond $100; Paul Bowling, grand larceny, bond $500; Pearl Begley, detaining female, $1,000; Bob Miller, detaining female, $1,000;

Harry Combs, forgery, $500; Perry Furniture Exchange $500; Paul Turner and Lester Turner, failure to comply with KRS 365.250, $200 each; Herman Sizemore and Joseph Francis, grand larceny, $1,000 each; Bob Miller, malicious shooting and wounding, $2,500; Blue Everidge selling intoxicants to minors, $100.

Three For Robbery

Eugene Napier, Hershel Noble and Dennis Allen, robbery, $2,500 each; Otis Clay, child desertion, $500; John Tolson, sodomy, $500; Billy Ray Fugate, Jimmy Couch, Jimmy Fugate, malicious cutting and wounding, $1,000 each; Margie Duff, selling whiskey without county license, $250; Thad Duff, selling whiskey without county license, $500.

Sid Combs, rape, $5,000; William Phillips, child desertion, $500; Steve Allen, holding and flourishing deadly weapon $200; Jack Fields, grand larceny, $1,000; James W. Bercham, child desertion, $500; Jessie Stidham, housebreaking, $500; Mrs. W. M. Melton, court reporter, for their heap.

Throwing Bricks

Roscoe White, throwing bricks into dwelling house, $500; Bernard Faulkner, perjury, $500; Harold Harrison, forgery, $500; Docie Eversole, selling whiskey without county license, $250; Marie Stidham, child desertion, $500; Herman Cleo Roberts, making a check without sufficient funds to back same, $500; Leonard Eversole, Charles Ingram, Wilford Ingram and Dora Ingram, malicious cutting and wounding, $500 each; Willard F. Couch, grand larceny, $500; James Womble, failing to obtain permit for strip mining, $500.

Jurors expressed their appreciation to County Attorney C. A. Noble, Miss Claudine Ferguson, his secretary, and Mrs. W. M. Melton, court reporter, for their help.

Elk's X-ray Unit Plans Visit Here

The X-ray trailer, donated for use in Perry and surrounding counties by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will be in Hazard on Oct. 3, 7, 8, 9 and 10, the Perry County Health Department announced today.

Everyone over 40 and those persons under 40 who were found to have positive skin tests for exposure to tuberculosis are being urged by the Perry County Health Department to visit the trailer. Persons who have had close contacts with TB cases and have positive tests are especially urged to have an X-ray made.

According to R. L. Collins, M.D., Chairman of the Perry County Board of Health a positive skin test does not mean that the individual has tuberculosis. It does indicate, however, that someone in his family or close acquaintance may have active tuberculosis to which he has been exposed.

No person under 20 years of age is to come for an X-ray unless he has had a positive skin test, Dr. R. L. Collins, Health Officer, said this week. Exceptions will be made only at a physician's request. Also a woman in the first three months of pregnancy can be X-rayed.

Coal By Wire Is Latest Innovation For Industry

This is the story of a house, a modern ranch, long and low. Something is missing, however; a careful look at the picture would reveal that it has no chimney. And inside, there's no furnace, no duct work, flues, heating pipes, registers, or radiators. How then, is it heated?

It is heated by "coal by wire"—radiant electric heating which requires no furnace or other space-consuming equipment usually associated with conventional home-heating fuels.

"Coal by Wire"

The owner, Lou Singley, wanted to have the most convenient heating available when he built his house last year, so he chose electric heating of the resistance type, similar to the heating element in an electric blanket. Electricity, produced from bituminous coal-powered generating stations, creates heat as it flows through electric heating wire installed in the home.

Lou chose radiant ceiling heat, a system in which resistance cable is stapled to the lath prior to plastering. Each ceiling becomes a low-temperature heating surface which radiates warmth to the room, and individual thermostats enable each room to be kept at a "tailor-made" temperature.

All-Electric Home

Located near Greensburg in western Pennsylvania, this seven-room house has four bedrooms, kitchen, living room, dining room, two baths, and full basement with game room, laundry, and two-car garage.

The 1680-sq. ft. house is L-shaped with overall dimensions of 63 by 36 ft. It is wired for full-housepower, for both electric heating and electric appliances—built-in electric oven with counter-top cooking units, refrigerator-freezer, built-in dishwasher, garbage disposer, washer and dryer, water heater, and exhaust fans.

Lou and Dorcas, his wife, like the new push-button lighting controls—press the button lightly and the light goes on, press it again and the light goes off. Also included in the house is a master light control panel located in the bedroom, which controls the main lights throughout the house, basement, and yard. Buttons on the panel light up whenever the main lights are on.

Advantages of Electric Heating

After living in the house through a complete heating season, Lou and Dorcas have found many reasons why they like electric heating.

First of all, with seven people in the house—Lou, Dorcas, Bobby, Ginny, Kathy, and Kevin, their children, and Mr. Johnson, Dorcas' father, they feel that convenience is the most important advantage. Everyone seems to have a different taste when it comes to room temperature, and individual room thermostats have proved to be just the thing.

To the Singleys, comfort is next in importance. They notice no over-heating with electric radiant heat, no "hot spots" or drafts—just a steady, gentle even heat anywhere they happen to be in any room.

The Singleys find "coal by wire" to be clean—as clean as a light bulb. Their walls, drapes and furnishings are staying clean longer—and they anticipate savings on cleaning bills and fewer housecleaning chores.

Especially with the children, the safety of electric heating is highly important to the Singley family. Electricity eliminates hazards of flame, fumes and explosions, as well as leaking pipes or radiators. No overheating can result with electric heating. Maximum temperature of the electrically-heated ceiling is only 115 degrees F., controlled by thermostats and protected by circuit breakers.

The Singleys also cited these other advantages of electric heating:

There are no space-consuming ducts, chimneys, furnace rooms, radiators, pipes, or fuel tanks. Furnishings can be placed anywhere in the room because of the absence of radiators or registers.

Maintenance costs are practically eliminated with electric heating. There are no flues to clean, no burners to clog, no pipes to rust out. The individual room control thermostat is the only moving part in the electric resistance home heating system.

Because of the low temperature of electric heat, the radiant heating installation should last the life of the house whereas conventional systems have an estimated life of only 20 years.

Electric heating is silent heating, with no motor, no fan, nor annoying noise or vibration.

With electric heating, the cost of fuel tanks, pipes, radiators, flues and chimney is completely eliminated. Initial cost of electric heating, including thermostats in each room, is generally lower than that of any other comparable zone control heating system. Floor space usually occupied by a furnace is available for other purposes.

With no duct or pipe work, electric heating is easily adaptable to building expansion.

Electric Heating Construction

Electrically-heated homes are built substantially the same as other houses; however, more emphasis is placed on insulation. Requirements specify the equivalent of six inches of conventional insulation in the ceiling, four inches in outside walls, and two inches in the floor.

The combination of double-pane windows, storm doors, and heavy insulation keeps the house cool in summer and keeps heat losses to a minimum in winter.

Resistance heating cable is placed in all the ceilings except the basement, which in the Singley's house is heated by portable electric fan-type heaters. In the baths, the ceiling cable is supplemented by electric baseboard heaters.

Electric Heating Today

At present, approximately 400,000 homes in the United States are being heated electrically, either with resistance heating or the heat pump.

Other forms of resistance heating, using the same principle as resistance ceiling cable, include electric baseboards; wire-imbedded glass panels for walls, ceilings, or portable units; and wall-type units, with or without circulating fans, for either complete house heating or for supplemental heat.

The heat pump, based on the principle of reverse refrigeration, combines electric heating and electric cooling using only air and electricity. Operating like a refrigerator with reverse controls, it pumps heat into the house in the winter and pumps heat out of the house in the summer.

Both methods of electric heating are used throughout the United States, although the heat pump is used more extensively below the Mason-Dixon Line.

New Market for Coal

Each kilowatt-hour of electricity consumed in electric heating represents approximately 0.8 lb. bituminous coal as produced in the better generating stations of today.

Last winter, the Singley home consumed 13,500 kilowatt-hours of electricity, equivalent to approximately five tons of coal. By the end of this year, those 400,000 homes in the United States will have consumed approximately 22 million tons of coal as equivalent electricity for heating alone.

Hazard Bulldogs Maul Prestonsburg Blackcats 40-6

Sizemore Races For 3 Touchdowns; Hazard Tackle Score On 88-Yard Run

The undefeated Hazard High School Bulldogs roared to their third victory of the season, Friday night, by mauling highly-regarded Prestonsburg 40-6, on the loser's field.

The large margin of victory came as a shocking surprise to the more than 4,000 fans of both schools who saw game.

For the charges of Coach Jim Caudill, it was unquestionably their best performance in the past two seasons. Hazard's defense forced the Black Cats to play an aerial game in the second half, and then frustrated the Floyd County eleven by stealing four of the 22 aerials tossed by the Black Cats.

Prestonsburg's line, touted before the season as possibly the conference's best, fell apart before Caudill's super-charged forward wall and the deadly blocking and running of Hazard backs.

From the moment the Bulldogs pounced upon a Black

Cat fumble on the second play of the game, it was all Hazard—to the glee of approximately 400 local fans who made the 2-hour trip.

Halfbacks Astor Cat Sizemore and Britt Handy ripped for 13 yards each in two plays, and then Sizemore ripped over from the three and converted for a 7-0 lead that was only a forecast of things to come.

Touchdown No. 2 came on a 62 yard drive with Handy and Sizemore alternating. A pass at the start of the second half from Quarterback Ken Cobb to Fullback Phil Turner left the Bulldogs with a 21-0 lead. A sensation 88-yard pass interception by Tackle Harmon Petrey, the second touchdown in as many years for the Hazard All-State line candidate, gave the Bulldogs a 27-0 lead, and a 12-yard roll-out around end by Cobb was good for a 34-0 advantage.

As if to add insult to injury, a 78 yard kick-off return by Sizemore in the closing seconds of play capped the night of Bulldog glory.

Even the loss of Cobb in the second quarter failed to discourage the Bulldogs. With Sophomore Johnny Davis at the helm, Hazard took only five plays to drive 26 yards to the Prestonsburg 12 on the running of Sizemore and Handy.

With Cobb back the Bulldogs square into the hands of Petrey on the Bulldog 12. Petrey picked up two blockers and with the enthusiasm of a 10-second fullback raced down the right sidelines to send Hazard ahead 27-0.

The alert Hazard tackle also figured into the Bulldogs next touchdown when he pounced on a Prestonsburg fumble on the Black Cat 41. It took Hazard only 7 ground plays to reach the 12, from where Cobb wheeled around end to score touchdown No. 5 of the evening. Sizemore converted on his third of four attempts.

Prestonsburg made it 34-6, by marching 74 yards. Fullback Dennis Stephens scored from the 13 yard line. Allen's attempt for the conversion was wide of the uprights.

If Steven's touchdown was to have been the reason for post-game celebration among Black Cat fans, the reinforcing over the 6-pointer was dampened on Sizemore's kick-off return.

Sizemore took Allen's kick-off on the Hazard 28, and with his teammates mowing 'em down like Dillinger hoods armed with sub-machine guns, roared through a hole the width of the North Fork at floodtime. After getting into the secondary on the Prestonsburg 40, he cut to the right, faked four men out of position, and then raced over for the final Bulldog score.

It would be a mistake, however, to give all the glory of the game to the offensive side. Hazard's defensive squad was brilliant.

Guard Bob Bassey, and Ends Joe Baker and Decourse Hall-burton were terrors on kick-off and punts. Baker twice busted up Prestonsburg's spread formation after the Black-Cats had made it click once. Halliburton broke through at least once to throw Allen for a large loss.

Wall Green, the Leslie County transfer, proved himself a formidable addition to the Hazard squad, by keeping Prestonsburg backs where Coach Jim Caudill wanted them—down! Green and Halfback Phil Turner and Halfback Wendell Combs also figured into the interceptions that plagued Prestonsburg everytime the Black Cats seemed to be under steam.

Prestonsburg just couldn't cope with the Bulldogs either on offense or defense. Guard Jim Crutchfield, Center Ben Rose, Tackles Paul Cox and Tommy Fitzpatrick, Center Colin Cox, Guard John Farler, 43 yards, running 7 times for End Wendell Combs, Fullback a 6.1 average.

Buddy Smyly and a host of reserves in action for experience—were literally unleashed tornadoes dancing maliciously over an over-rated Prestonsburg eleven.

Leading ground gainer for Hazard was Sizemore with 72 yards, excluding his punt return. He carried 14 times for a 5.1 average. Handy blasted for 49 yards on 8 runs, a 6.1 average. Smyly got 9 yards in three runs; Cobb 21 on two blasts.

Although he was the leading ground-gainer for Prestonsburg, the performance of highly-publicized Quarterback James Allen was the most disappointing of the evening. Allen got 40 yards in 17 runs for a 2.3 average. Stevens carried for 2 yards in four runs; Ousley got 43 yards, running 7 times for

End Wendell Combs, Fullback a 6.1 average.

Hunters Abide Law, Davis

Conservation Officer Ora Davis today had good news for Perry county hunters. You're getting more law-abiding all the time.

Davis, readying now for the opening of the Kentucky hunting season on November 20, said records for the past year show hunters are, generally speaking, a law-abiding lot. "This is good," he said, "because it means hunters are beginning to realize the game laws are made to insure good hunting for everybody, and if they're not obeyed all our hunting will rapidly vanish."

Davis said statistics in Division of Law Enforcement of offices in Frankfort show only 1.7 percent of Kentucky hunters are game law violators as compared with almost 8-1/2 percent 20 years ago.

The steady decline of game law violators has been due largely to increased efforts of conservation officers in the state's 120 counties and to growing awareness of conservation problems on the part of the public, Davis said.

But there are still far too many violators for the good of Kentucky hunting, he added.

Davis said conservation officers will make an increased drive this year to crack down on law-breakers during the 1958 hunting season. Exactly how law abiding is Perry county in terms of hunting and fishing? Davis arrested 28 persons last year and got 27 convictions. "You'll have to draw your own conclusions from this," he said.

The supply is up now," he concluded, "and if possible, we'll keep it that way."

Davis said hunters wishing full details on seasons and regulations should contact him or the county clerk.

Hindman School

The Hindman Settlement School was founded in 1902 by May Stone of Louisville and Katherine Pettit of Lexington. The school was organized to supply the need for education expressed by "Uncle Sol" Beveridge, 82 years of age, who had walked 20 miles from Hindman to Hazard to enlist the interest of the two young ladies who were camping there.

New Chance Offered Korean Veterans For GI Training

Many of the 1,000,000 Korean veterans who dropped out of GI training will get a new chance to resume their education this fall under a Veterans Administration ruling today by Sumner G. Whittier, Administrator of Veterans Affairs.

The veterans are those who had interrupted their training for more than 12 consecutive months, and whose GI Bill cut-off dates had passed.

A veteran's cut-off date for starting GI training occurs three years from his discharge from the armed forces. Once that date passes, a veteran in training under the Korean GI Bill is allowed by law to interrupt his studies for up to 12 months, without needing VA approval.

But if he interrupts longer than that, he may resume training only if he can show VA that the interruption in excess of 12 months was due to reasons beyond his control.

Mr. Whittier explained that VA's new ruling amounts to a liberalization of what the VA will consider to be reasons beyond a veteran's control.

Many of the 1,000,000 former GI trainees who weren't eligible to resume training under VA's old procedures now will become eligible under the new, he said.

The VA ruling will permit a veteran to get back into GI training if he shows that he interrupted his course for any of these reasons:

1. Family or financial obligations beyond his control, that made it necessary for him to suspend training in order to get a job.

2. Personal or family illness, or death in the immediate family, which caused him to drop out of training to get a job.

3. Unavoidable conditions in connection with his employment that forced him to suspend his training.

4. An allowable 12-month period of suspension that comes to an end during vacation, recess or some other time when it isn't possible to reenter school.

While it's up to the veteran to prove that his suspension in excess of 12 months is a valid one, Mr. Whittier has ordered that all reasonable doubt be resolved in the veteran's favor.

Family Loses Child For 24 Hours; Phylliss Peter 2, Wander Off In Store

A cute, little, two-year old girl is home with her parents, today, after being the object of city-wide attention, Saturday night and Sunday.

The child was returned to her parents Sunday afternoon when her father, Coy Peters who thought she was with his brother-in-law, turned up at City Police Station to report his daughter missing.

City Police gave this story of the incident. The Peters family and the family of Columbus Brewer, brother in law to Peters, were shopping Saturday at the A & P Food store. When Brewer left the grocery, he returned Phylliss to Columbus. Phylliss, however, like any 2-year-old will do when given the chance — wandered off. When her father left the store, he thought his daughter was with the Brewer family and spending the night there.

Sunday afternoon, Peters sent his two other children to the Brewer home to get Phylliss. When the children returned home saying Phylliss wasn't there, Peters rushed to the Police Department where Policeman Bud Luttrell informed him of his daughter's whereabouts.

The child, when the store closed, walked up to Mrs. Henry Hall, an employee of A & P, and told she wanted to go home with her. Mrs. Hall told city police the child was not crying.

Saturday night and Sunday morning, Mrs. Hall and City Police tried to locate the child's parents, but couldn't until Mr. Peters turned up at the station.
